Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Schiller (5012596).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Margolin (2405224) in view of Schiller (5012596).

Margolin shows a shoe comprising an insole blank (13, 31, 41, or 51) with an opening in the forefoot which is filled with a flexible insert (12, 22, or 52), an upper (10, 30, or 50), an outsole (12, 34, or 57), a midsole (14, 32, 40, or 53) with a stabilizing perimeter around a more flexible inner portion (12, 22, or 52), and a heel which is of the conventional type that is considered to be inherently or at least obviously over 1 inch in height substantially as claimed except for an insole cushion. Schiller teaches providing an insole cushion (56) in a high heeled shoe. It would have been obvious to provide an insole cushion as taught by Schiller in the shoe of Margolin to increase comfort and cushioning over the entire sole area.

In reference to claims 2-4, 9-12, and 17-19, Margolin as modified above discloses the claimed invention except for the exact materials. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use foam rubbers, air bubble materials, or gels with the compression parameters claimed, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
